

1 May 2014

SNEAK PEEK

Bicycles, Airships and Things that Go

By Bernie McAllister, illustrated by John Aardema

Kids Future Press

STORIES FOR RESILIENCE, INSPIRED BY DESIGN & TECHNOLOGY

The Peek

This selection of pencil sketches shows scenes from our forthcoming (and first!) title, Bicycles, Airships and Things that Go. Author McAllister and illustrator Aardema were inspired by Richard Scarry's work, riffing on it and adding their own transformative touches for the 21st century. Aardema is currently at work inking and coloring, and we'll soon have the finished book in your hands.

The Story

Bikes, skateboards, snowboard! Boats, trains, and airships! Bicycles, Airships and Things that Go chronicles a family trip using all those and more. The story is powered by renewable energy as bumbling secret agents try to steal a package the family is delivering to the science center in another city. Hold on to your cycle helmets for this exciting family ride!

The following pages preview the family's road trip, offering glimpses of:

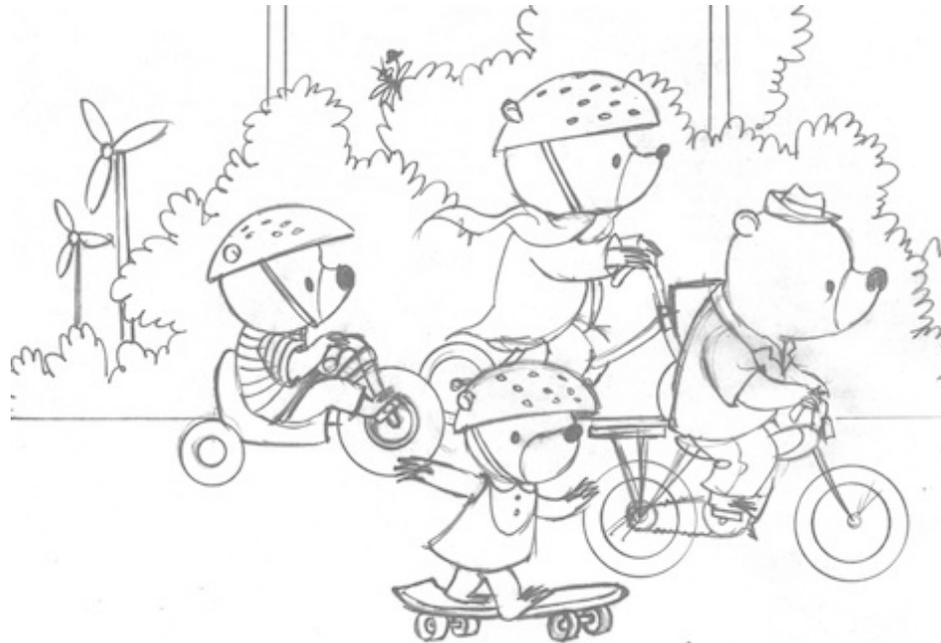

- Characters
- The Mission
- Dangers
- The Destination
- Travel
- Landscapes

Publisher Kids Future Press produces picture books to help kids and adults explore an exciting, interesting and entertaining sustainable future.

Now on to the peek...

Characters

Mom, Dad, Tilly and Taylor

The Mission

Deliver Mom's invention, a light suit, to the science center in another town.

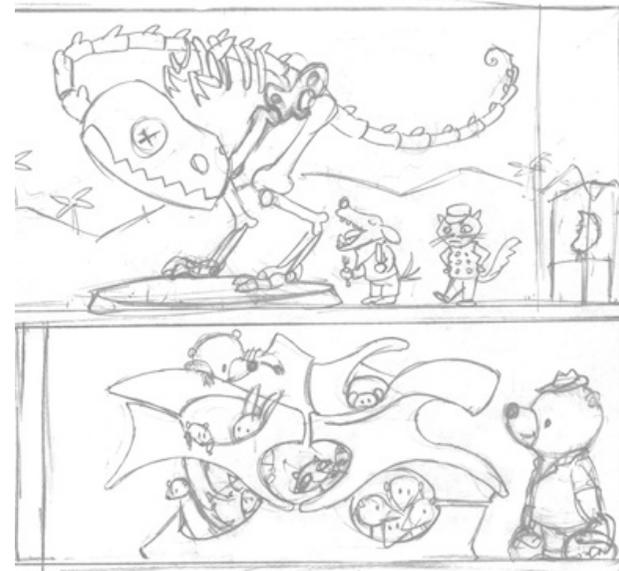

The Danger

Two secret agents follow the family and try to get the box that contains the light suit.

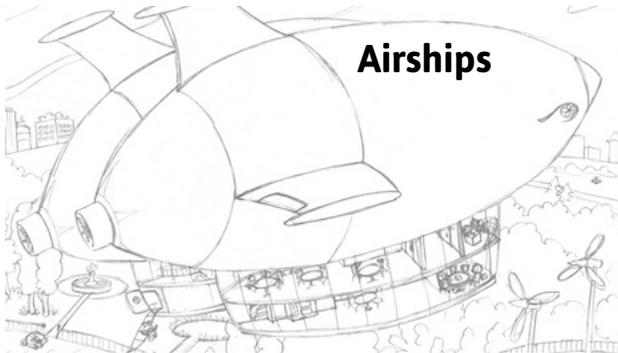

The Destination

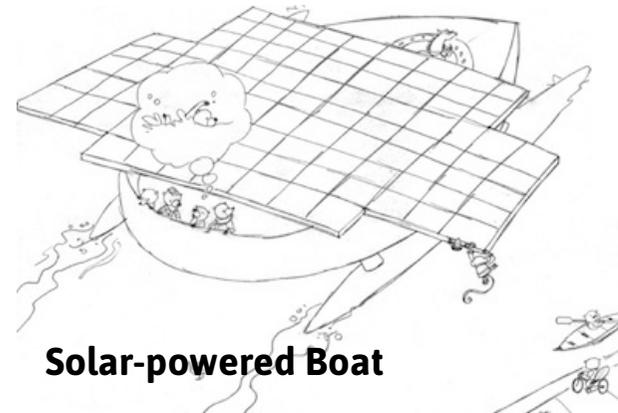

The science center in the town of Helios

Travel

Electric Bus & Cars

Solar-powered Boat

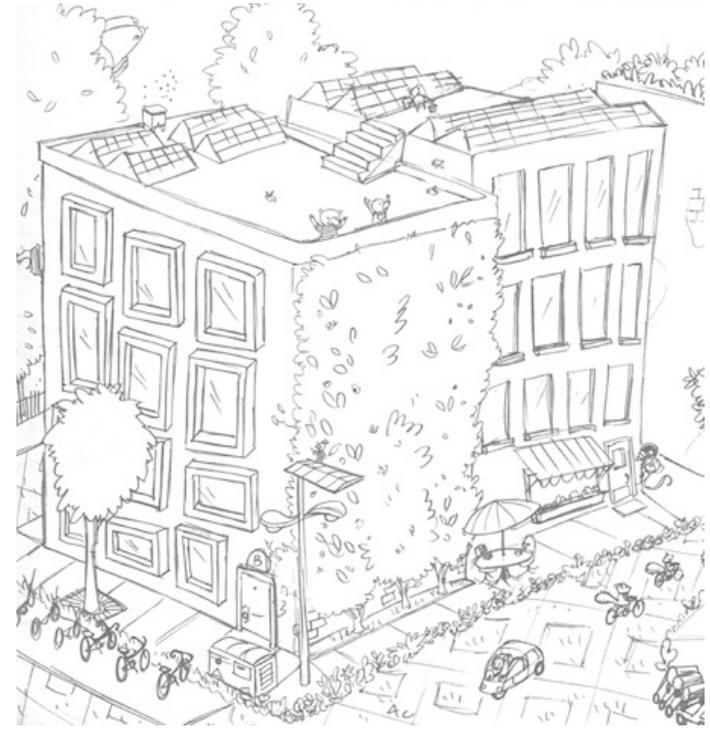

Landscapes

Ocean

Urban Farm

Neighborhood

Bicycles, Airships and Things that Go
RELEASE DATE SEPTEMBER 1, 2014

Story by Bernie McAllister
Illustrations by John Aardema

Published by Kids Future Press

Catch our activity packs, offers, and news (like this Sneak Peek) by signing up at <http://www.kidsfuturepress.com>. Find resources and the sources of our inspiration on our blog, Facebook, and our Pinterest boards.

<http://www.facebook.com/kidsfuturepress/>
<http://www.pinterest.com/kidsfuturepress/>

© Kids Future Press, 2014

Kids Future Press

STORIES FOR RESILIENCE, INSPIRED BY DESIGN & TECHNOLOGY